EDWARD REESE.

Jury Reached Its Conclusion-Funeral Arrangements,

The death of Edward Reese, the pitman, in the pit at 15th and H streets northeast yesterday morning, as published in yesterday's Star, was declared by a jury this morning to have been the result of an accident. After the inquest had been held at the morgue the body was removed to the late home of the deceased, 467 C street southwest, by Undertaker Duvall, Arrangements were made for the funeral to take place late this afternoon and for the interment of the body in Glenwood. The fatal accident to Reese caused heartfelt sorrow to the employes of the street railway company, among whom he had been popular. Reese was one of the most expert pitmen in the service of the local companies. It is said he had a record in making a change from the underground to the overhead system in three seconds. Only a few days ago, it is stated, one of the employes of the railway company saw him give a signal for the motorman to ahead before he had made the electrical connections. He was then warned that he should be more careful. At the inquest this morning the railway company was represented by F. J. Merscheimer, the company's claim agent, and Attorney George P. Hoover. The former was the first witness examined by the cortenis tournament and the cortenis tourname oner. He produced a drawing showing how the pit is constructed and explained how the pitman performs his work. He also explained what the motormen and con-ductors do while the car is over the pit and told of the different signals given by the pitman and conductor. These signals, he stated, are given by sounding gongs.

"Don't the pitman sometimes call to the conductor instead of sounding the gong?"

"I can't say what they sometimes do," he witness responded. "I'm only telling you the rules of the company."

Conductor's Statement. George E. Kefauver, conductor on the car at the time the accident happened, testified that he was on his car at the time and had obeyed the orders he received from the pitman. He explained that when the car approached the pit the pitman raised his head above the tracks and motioned the motorman to move ahead. The car moved over the plt and stopped when one bell was sounded. Then the car remained there over the pit until the pitman had made the adjustment and given the signal, two bells, to go ahead. Witness responded to the two-bell signal by twice sounding the bell on the car to instruct the motorman to go ahead. Then the car started and the accident resulted.

Witness told what he knew of the duties of the pitman in changing the current from one system to another and putting on or removing the plow. The conductor said he had been employed on the road a year or more, and knew Reese had been employed in the pit about six months.

Testimony of Motorman.

Motorman Humphrey B. Glaze was the next witness examined. He told the coroner and jury that his car was moved yesterday morning in accordance with the usual rules of the company. Upon approaching the pit, he stated, he saw the pitman look from the pit and motion him to proceed. He moved his car slowly until it was directly over the pit and stopped it. The one-bell signal was given to indicate that everything was in proper shape and the car remained standing until the two bells were sounded by the conductor, fol-lowing closely a similar signal given by the Witness stated that the car remained wer the pit a little longer time than usual, time enough for the change to be made from the underground to the overhead system. When the conductor gave the two-bell signal, witness started his car ahead. It had gone but a very short distance when he felt the jar caused by the car striking the pitman and he stopped the car immediately.

"The car had started on one point," stated the witness, "and it did not go ahead more than three feet after the accident oc-

Although he did not believe the jar had been caused by the pitman, witness said, he got off the car and looked for the cause of the trouble. When he saw what had happeried he became dazed. The motorman said there was nothing that he could no in the matter and he remained there until some men came from the barn:

Passengers on the Stand.

Thomas Watkins, colored, living at Burrville, testified that he was a passenger on the car at the time the pitman was killed. He heard all the signals given, as stated by the previous witnesses, and also said he heard the pitman say: "Put up the trol-Then the pitman sounded the two bells and the conductor gave the motorman the signal to go ahead. Witness felt the jarring of the car, and when he got off he saw the body of the dead man. John Stewart, colored, also a resident of Burrville, gave similar testimony. He was the last one to get off the car, he stated, because he was lame. The only reason he got off was because he was afraid there would be a fire. Stewart said he heard the usual signals given by the pitman and conductor before the car was started from over the pit.

Deputy Coroner Glazebrook was the last witness examined. He told of the condition of the body of the pitman and said he saw no evidence of burns.

MADE BIG PURCHASE.

Goldenbergs to Give Public the Bene-

The announcement is made that the Goldenbergs have bought the entire stock of "The Union Outfitters to Men" Company, now located at 519 7th street northwest, from the trustees in bankruptcy. It is stated by Goldenbergs that a very low price was paid for the stock-about 56 cents on the dollar of the real value.

"The Union Outfitters to Men" Company was organized about six months ago by men prominent in labor circles for supplying the clothing needs of men interested in the welfare of union labor. The entire stock was bought this season, and no newer or more desirable stock is shown in this city. The lines carried by "The Union Outfitters to Men" Company include men's suits, separate trousers, hats, shoes and furnishings, all of these being right up to the minute in point of style and quality excellence.

Goldenbergs intend to offer this spick-span new stock of men's goods to the public of Washington on the same ad-vantageous terms under which it was purchased, offering an unprecedented opportunity to secure bargains such as are only possible under the existing circumstances. The stock will be moved to the Goldenberg establishment, and after being arranged and marked down will be advertised for sale at prices certain to pack the store with appreciative buyers.

"Karl Grier."

Every one who enjoys good fiction will want to read "Karl Grier," the new and strangely fascinating serial story which begins in next Sunday's Star. This story is by Louis Tracy, the famous author of "The Wings of the Morning," "The Pillar of Light" and "Souls on Fire," the thrilling tale which was concluded in The Sunday Star of June 11. This new story is different in theme and treatment from anything Mr. Tracy has yet attempted, and it is sure to interest lovers of good

VERDICT IN CASE OF PITMAN MISS JULIA WHEELER MARRIED TO A SOUTHERNER.

Testimony Upon Which the Coroner's A Newport Prospect and Yesterday's

Happenings-Personal

A wedding in which Washingtonians have great interest was that yesterday in New York at St. Thomas' Church, when Miss Julia Knox Wheeler, a daughter of Gen. Joseph Wheeler of Alabama, was married to Mr. William Julius Harris of Cedartown, Ga. It was a very pretty but a quiet ficwers decorated the chancel. The bride was given away by her father. She wore a gown of white lace over white taffeta and satin, and a tulie-veil, fastened with a cluster of orange blossoms. Her ornaments were pearls and she carried a bouquet of iflies of the valley.

Her attendants were her three sisters, the Misses Annie, Lucy and Carry Wheeler, and Mrs. Ernest M. Stires, the wife of the rector of St. Thomas', who officiated at the ceremony. They were white organdle over ceremony. They wore white organdle over silk, with lace trimmings. Each carried pink roses. Dr. Seale Harris of Georgia was his brother's best man. The ushers were the bride's brother, Capt. Joseph Wheeler, jr., and Mr. William R. Kirkland. Mr. and Mrs. Harris will take a brief trip through the north and then go to their home in Cedatown.

Miss Wetmore won the final game in the tennis tournament yesterday at Newport, and among those watching her triumph was the Baroness de Tuyll, wife of the charge d'affaires of the Netherlands legation, whose blonde beauty was accented by an entirely white costume. A long, loose coat of white wool covered a white linen dress and her white straw hat was veiled in white chiffon.

From the next charity fete at Newport It is hoped to realize $10,000. The advance advertising announces that neither money nor talent will be grudged in the preparation. It will be held on the F. W. Vanderbilt place, and among the most uncommon features is to be a farm yard with blooded live stock under the direction of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt The latter will preside over a modern dairy with assistants appropriately costumed. An army and navy booth, a Japanese tea house and stalls for the sale of flowers, bric-a-brac, etc., will also be presented in attractive guise.
